You did it!

Rosena's Family

Before

Meet the Family

Rosena (50) is a widow who lost her husband Caleme Jean in 2016 and continues to raise her three children Rolin (17), Gina (13), and Darlie (7), who are all still in school as she values their education.

She now sells fruits and vegetables in the market of Pignon, where she earns enough to provide the basics for her family and pay the loan for her Fuller Center home, but could never afford a loan from a bank. She was able to save up and purchase a small piece of land to build a home for her family.

Upon completing her home, Rosena said, "I will keep praying for Fuller Center For Housing so that they can keep up the good work and continue to change people's life as they do for me, and I feel like i will live longer with no more worries for rainy times and no more dust in my floor."

THANK YOU!

Haiti has long been the poorest country in the western hemisphere, where formal jobs are few as families remain stuck in survival mode. We are working in the northern city of Pignon.

Your partnership helped a family have a simple, yet dry, sturdy and healthy home!

What difference does a make?

Health

Hello dry roof! Goodbye dirt floors.

Highly effective preventative medicine - no wonder our families get sick less often.

Strong families

Home is a garden where families grow

Lower stress + less overcrowding + more stability = healthier families and communities

Income

A launchpad for small business

Study shows entrepreneurship rate among families tripling after moving into Fuller Center homes.

Education

Safe, stable place to do homework

Imagine going to school if you can't sleep at night. Kids get degrees that their parents only dreamed of.

A house is the foundation stone upon which human development occurs.

Who We Are

A grassroots, Christian non-profit that builds permanent homes with families in need in 70+ U.S. cities and 20 countries.

Partnership

Homeowner families are full partners in the construction process, providing "sweat equity" and paying it forward with a no-profit, no-interest loan.

On an unrelenting quest to shelter all people worldwide.

Local Leadership

Every Fuller Center is initiated and led by locals so that the work is appropriate and the process empowers the community.
